Internship Events/Business Communication/Non-profit organisation, KDE e.V. , Berlin, Germany

KDE e.V., the non-profit organisation supporting one of the largest Free Software communities, the KDE community, is looking for a full-time intern for its Berlin office at the earliest possible date.

- Are you interested in working with an international community?
- Would you like to get insights into community management and fundraising?
- Are you up for an interesting job that requires organisational skills and hands-on event management?
- Are you a people person and a good communicator?
- Do you like working in a team and are you able to organise your work autonomously at the same time?
- Have you got good knowledge of German and English?

Then we're looking for you! The internship duration is 3 to 6 months, and you will get a small remuneration to cover basic living expenses.

You will:

- support the KDE e.V. business manager with the organisation of an big international conference and booth presence at trade shows
- help to run the supporting membership program and fundraising
- assist with general office tasks
- work together with our promo team on promotional material
- and much more.

Please send you application including a letter of motivation, your CV and references via email to rauch@kde.org.
